Calling all volunteers!

Bring your rubber boots and gloves, and get your hands dirty with us in the Gulf of Mexico!

Join Alabama Coastal Foundation, Mobile Baykeeper, The Nature Conservancy and The Ocean Foundation as we kick off the 100-1000: Restore Coastal Alabama project. We're laying the first quarter-mile of what will ultimately be 100 miles of oyster reef to protect and create 1,000 acres of marsh. We need 2,000 people to help move 23,000 bags of oyster shell from the land to the water launching an important effort towards the long-term restoration of the Gulf of Mexico.

January 22-23, 2011
Alabama's Helen Wood Park
(on western Mobile Bay)

Details and online registration are available at <http://100-1000.org/events>

Due to the heavy work involved in the event, it is not suitable for children under 14.

See you there!
